Re: Comments on the Draft Environmental Impact Statement

Dear Mr. Madden:

We the undersigning Bicycle Advocates are writing to express our views of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Purple Line.

We support the Light Rail Transit option for the Purple Line. We believe this is most likely to have a positive impact on neighborhoods through which it passes, is most compatible with the Capital Crescent Trail and will help address the regional problem of traffic congestion and the global problem of climate change.

We support 1) completion of the Capital Crescent hiker biker trail between Silver Spring and Bethesda; 2) completion of the Green Trail between downtown Silver Spring and the Sligo Creek Trail, 3) a direct interface between the Capital Crescent and Metropolitan Branch Trails; 4) Other pedestrian and bicycle safety upgrades elsewhere along the Purple Line project corridor.

We urge Secretary Porcari and Governor O'Malley to move the light rail Purple Line and Capital Crescent Trails forward through design and into construction on the most expeditious schedule.

Sincerely; 13 TRAIL, BICYCLE & TRANSIT ACTIVISTS IN

Re: Comments on the Purple Line Project Alternatives Analysis/Draft
Environmental Impact Statement (AA/DEIS)

Dear Ms. Ratcliff:

Thank you for the opportunity to submit written comments in strong favor of the light rail option for the Purple Line.

These comments are submitted on behalf of residents of Carole Highlands, whom are in the process of reforming a dormant Carole Highlands Neighborhood Association. Carole Highlands is a quiet residential neighborhood in an unincorporated area Prince George's County adjacent to Takoma Park's Hillwood Manor neighborhood. It is just south of the commercial areas on University Boulevard, west of Riggs Road and north of Sligo Creek and East-West Highway.

We support:

1. A generally at-grade light rail line that is primarily on its own right of way;
2. Excellent service linking the Bethesda, Silver Spring, College Park and New Carrollton Metrorail Stations with stops in Chevy Chase, Long Branch, the University of Maryland (on campus), Riverdale Park and other communities along the transit corridor, including the two proposed stops closest to our neighborhood at the Takoma/Langley Crossroads and the intersection of University Boulevard and Riggs Road.
3. Completion of the Capital Crescent hiker-biker trail alongside the transit line on the Georgetown Branch railroad right of way between Bethesda and Silver Spring and important pedestrian safety upgrades elsewhere along the project corridor;
4. A community- and environmentally-friendly design that mitigates negative impacts in a cost-effective manner without impeding the speedy implementation of this project.

Our neighborhood has relatively easy access to downtown Washington via public transportation. But the Purple Line would make for much easier commutes to jobs in Silver Spring and Bethesda to the west and the University of Maryland to the east. The project would also spur economic development along University Boulevard.

Thank you for including our views in the public record.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Ratcliff:

We are pleased to submit comments on the Alternatives Analysis/Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Purple Line.

The Demarche Alliance has proactively engaged various minority and low income communities along the proposed 16- mile corridor to help educate residents in Montgomery and Prince Georges County. Attached are the results of that outreach and the position of the communities that have participated in our efforts.

We look forward to working with MTA to ensure that this project moves smoothly through design and construction. If any additional inquiries arise, please contact us 202-466-0994 or eec@demarcehalliance.org.

Introduction

The comments are being filed by The Demarche Alliance Inc in response to the purple Line Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Alternative Analysis (DEIS). Through various methods of outreach and analysis, the position of the Demarche Alliance is to support a Light Rail alternative of the Purple Line Transit Corridor project. The following comments are reflective of the outreach process conducted by the Demarche Alliance pertain to the DEIS.

Interest of Demarche Alliance Inc.

The Demarche Alliance (DMA) is a non-profit organization that focuses on educating traditionally disadvantaged (low income/minority) communities on transportation issues. The mission of the organization is to improve the level of involvement in the transportation planning process of these communities. DMA serves these communities by increasing the awareness of transportation projects in their community, and assists in ensuring that needs and requirements of the public involvement process for are met. Essentially, The Demarche Alliance is one of many organizations striving to ensure that full participation in the public involvement process from all communities is achieved.

Background

In order to improve the awareness of the Purple Line project, the Demarche Alliance has worked extensively with several organizations to provide outreach to communities and residents along the corridor, focusing on those underserved communities in the central and eastern portions of the alignment (i.e. Long Branch, Takoma Park, Silver Spring and Riverdale). Numerous community meetings were held and information was passed out to many locations to include community centers, apartment complexes, county libraries and retail establishments. The majority of the residents reached were apartment tenants, as over 60 percent of the residents along the corridor are renters and 54 percent are ethnic minorities according to the DEIS. This method of outreach provided an opportunity for them to voice their opinions and concerns, as well as educate these residents on further ways to be engaged in the planning process.

Through the assistance of various community groups and volunteers, this outreach effort was organized around 5 meetings along the corridor. During the preplanning stages of the effort, focus was placed on results. The team decided that the ultimate goal was to not only educate these underserved communities, but to encourage further participation in the planning process behind the Purple Line by getting residents to sign petitions, write comments or testify at a hearing. The difficulty in reaching out to this population has always been apparent. First, volunteers had to visit community centers, grocery stores and major community gather locations to pass out information about the purple line and answer questions from many residents. Flyers were posted in various locations to promote the meetings.

After the leafleting effort, the strategy was to identify preexisting entities already engaged in these populations to assist with the outreach effort. Through the assistance of groups such as Purple Line Now and Impact Silver Spring, it was decided that outreach to the apartment community would be the most appropriate method to reach the specific population. Through communicating with property managers at several different complexes, coordinating with the

Apartment and Office Building Association (AOBA) and Southern Management, the following apartments were chosen to host the outreach meetings:

- Park Ritchie Apartments- October 20th, 2008
- Long Branch Community Center- October 22nd, 2008
- Lenox Park Apartments- October 29th, 2008
- Fountain Club Apartments- November 5th, 2008

These meetings were structured; yet the format allowed residents to do more than just listen to a presentation; residents had an opportunity to interact with themselves and discuss their specific everyday transportation struggles as well as ask questions in a conducive environment at their will and on their grounds. The average attendance was approximately 16 residents per meeting.

As a result of our outreach, we found that many residents, after attending in a meeting or receiving information, grasped the conceptual plan and were holistically in favor of the project. Over 160 petition signatures and 25 statements have been made in support a light rail version of the project. Several conclusions were apparent:

- 1) Overwhelmingly, residents believe that current travel conditions make trips to work and entertainment centers arduous. Transit users are restricted to buses which provide long commutes and wait times due to inconsistent bus schedules. For example, many residents are who live in along the eastern portions of the alignment (i.e. Takoma Park) over 15 percent longer to commute to work compared to residents on the western end of the alignment(i.e. Bethesda), according to the latest Census numbers. In addition, the income level between residents on eastern portions of the alignment is 2 times less than that of residents on western portions of the alignment. This income gap indicates that residents on eastern portions of the alignment are paying more in transportation costs in relation to their income than other residents in the county.
- 2) Many of residents in these communities had no vehicle and used transit extensively. For example, several elderly residents from the Park Ritchie Apartment complex in Takoma Park either take the Ride On bus or the J4 Bus line to get Silver Spring. This simple trip can take up to 45 minutes to an hour including wait time. A light rail option is expected to decrease travel time along routes that residents already take by approximately 30 percent.
- 3) Residents saw more value in a Light Rail option than the Bus option. The overall feeling was that the bus alternative proposed to operate along the route will still travel alongside passenger traffic thereby providing no additional relief to congestion. Residents felt that a light rail option is much more attractive, safer and more environmentally efficient than the bus option.
- 4) Residents are hungry for better communities, better access to jobs, and decent amenities. For example, residents in Riverdale feel left out because of the lack of variety of retail establishments and good paying jobs. Prince Georges County has 262,000 jobs compared to 406,000 jobs in Montgomery County according to the latest Census, and according to the DEIS, 21 percent of the residents along the corridor currently rely on transit to get to work.

The Purple Line will help aid Prince Georges County's vision to create a technology corridor resulting in job growth. In addition, residents who were in buildings that were anticipated to be displaced, such as Summit Hills, have indicated the need for the purple line to create more mobility in the region.

Conclusion

Overall, after talking to various communities and residents, the elderly and disabled, Black, White, Hispanic, Asian, Ethiopian and low income citizens.... the theme is the same. The Purple Line is a great idea and is needed. Residents of these traditionally overlooked populations want a chance to obtain the basic needs for strong communities; good schools, good housing; good health facilities, safety and reliable and efficient transportation. Simply stated, the Purple Line provides transportation alternatives for citizens who need transit the most. Decisions to move forward with transportation projects are never easy, but are always required. A Purple Line Light Rail Alternative will support the region's transportation system and allow residents freedom through mobility.

Petition to Support the Inner Purple Line

Details of support:

I enthusiastically support the Inner Purple Line and add my name to this petition. I support this vision of an Inner Purple Line:

1. A generally at-grade light rail line that is primarily on its own right of way;
2. Excellent service linking the Bethesda, Silver Spring, College Park and New Carrollton Metrorail Stations with stops in Chevy Chase, Long Branch, Langley Park, the University of Maryland (on campus), Riverdale Park and other communities along the transit corridor;
3. Completion of the Capital Crescent hiker-biker trail alongside the transit line on the Georgetown Branch railroad right of way between Bethesda and Silver Spring and important pedestrian safety upgrades elsewhere along the project corridor;
4. A community- and environmentally-friendly design that mitigates negative impacts in a cost-effective manner without impeding the speedy implementation of this project.

Re: Comments on the Alternatives Analysis/Draft Environmental Impact Statement

Dear Mr. Madden:

We are residents of the Chase apartment building at 4903 Edgemoor Lane in Bethesda writing to express our views of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Purple Line. We support Light Rail for the Purple Line to connect our community to Silver Spring and beyond.

A Light Rail line running alongside the Capital Crescent Trail will preserve the trail as a local resource, address our regional problems of traffic congestion by having between 60,000 and 70,000 daily riders, and help mitigate the global effects of climate change by getting people out of their cars. It will also bring the funding necessary to complete the Capital Crescent Trail to Silver Spring.

As Bethesda residents, we believe the Purple Line will improve our quality of life. The Purple Line will allow us to connect to the MARC train for regional travel, attend the University of Maryland for classes or football games, and take quick trips to Silver Spring without getting in our cars. Our usage is only a fraction of the broader benefit the Purple Line will bring to our entire regional transportation system.

A Light Rail Purple Line that is interoperable with the Metro offers the best combination of value and ridership to make the project worthwhile. It is consistent with the Federal Transit Administration's goals and will be well positioned for federal funding. The project will also demonstrate a serious step forward by Maryland to farsighted transit solutions for our environmental and transportation challenges. Any project the size, cost, and scope of the Purple Line is not without controversy. But it is important for our region's long term future that it move forward as a Light Rail project.

We urge Secretary Porcari and Governor O'Malley to move the light rail Purple Line forward through design and into construction on the most expeditious schedule possible.

Submission Content/Notes : To: Chairman Hanson and Members of the Planning Commission
From: Residents of the East Silver Spring/Wayne Ave area
Subject: Please Retain the Stop at Wayne Ave and Dale Drive
Date: January 2, 2009
Cc: County Council, County Executive, MTA, Governor O'Malley, District 20 Delegation, Congresswoman Edwards

We, the undersigned, are residents of East Silver Spring living in proximity to Wayne Avenue between Cedar Street and Sligo Creek Parkway. We are writing in response to the recent planning staff recommendation for the at-grade Medium Light Rail Transit (LRT) alignment for the Purple Line (PL) in East Silver Spring, which will pass along Wayne Avenue. In the AA/DEIS, the MTA has included a station at Wayne Avenue and Dale Drive, possibly as a response to the impact that an at-grade option will have on our neighborhood. However, the planning staff has recommended:

“that no further consideration be given to locating a Purple Line station on Wayne Avenue at Dale Drive, or any other location on Wayne Avenue between the proposed library site station and the proposed station at Manchester Place.”

Perhaps this recommendation is the result of the staff's response to a very vocal faction of the Master Plan Advisory Group (MPAG) who opposes the PL at-grade alignment in East Silver Spring and who opposes a station at Wayne and Dale. However, we would like you to know that if an at-grade alignment is selected, there are over 60 residents who want to retain the MTA's planned station at Wayne and Dale.

We understand that the at-grade LRT solution:

- moves more people out of cars --- MTA forecasts that of the 62,000+ LRT riders, one-third will be “new transit riders”
- best allows for future capacity and the significant growth anticipated in the Silver Spring Central Business District (CBD), including the Fenton Village redevelopment
- preserves the stop at Fenton & Wayne, home of the new Silver Spring Library (Note: since MTA plans no underground stations, any “tunneling” option would bypass the Silver Spring CBD)
- will not increase noise levels, and might well be better than the current bus noise on Wayne Avenue
- could have a calming effect on traffic along Wayne

A stop at Wayne and Dale would provide:

- the advantage of a streetcar stop in our neighborhood to offset the impacts of the PL (which will travel in front of closely spaced homes, requiring strips of property to be taken from some front-yards)
- a station in the neighborhood, which may enhance property values
- service to audiences attending programs at the renovated Old Blair Auditorium
- a station that students and employees at the Silver Spring International Middle School and employees at Sligo Creek Elementary School can use
- a walkable neighborhood station that will provide more eyes on the street
- a convenient neighborhood station that will encourage people to use transit to get to downtown Silver Spring (reducing demand for parking), while providing us good access to the Metro, as well as to jobs in Bethesda & the university at College Park
- a walker-friendly station situated halfway between Wayne/Fenton and

Wayne/Manchester (this proposed station is actually located beyond the intersection at Manchester); the grade is very steep between Sligo Creek and the Manchester station, hence the need to tunnel, and would be a steep uphill climb for our residents.

The proposed PL Medium LRT alignment is at its heart an infrastructure project that will serve the Maryland suburbs for the next 75 years. We look forward to a future that could include a vibrant performing arts center at Dale Drive and a community taking advantage of the option to leave the car behind, whether traveling to College Park for school or downtown Silver Spring to shop or visit the library.

Thank you for the opportunity to express our views on the Purple Line.

Sincerely,

Tina & Don Slater

Silver Spring Advocates

Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Written Comments on the Purple Line AA/DEIS

Jonathan Elkind

My name is Jonathan Elkind, and I have been a homeowner in Silver Spring for nearly 18 years. I work full-time as an energy-environment consultant, and part-time as a non-resident senior fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, DC. I am a member of the Seven Oaks-Evanswood Citizens Association (SOECA). I am also the chairperson of a grassroots group of over 100 residents of Silver Spring, called Silver Spring Advocates.

I strongly support a light-rail Purple Line, and my comments will draw on all the perspectives I just mentioned – those of a consultant and researcher-author, those of an active community member in east Silver Spring, and those of a Purple Line advocate who hopes the line will be built – built well, built soon, and built right near my own home.

Need for the Purple Line

Residents of the Maryland suburbs need the Purple Line for the reason that is highlighted in the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS): We are drowning under traffic. We can see this on our roads every day. Traffic grows dramatically as new residential housing and new office space are constructed in Silver Spring, and as suburban sprawl stretches all across the greater Washington area. According to data from the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments, the number of households in the Silver Spring central business district will grow by 48% by 2030, and the number of jobs will increase by 16%.¹ Smart, concentrated growth is an essential part of our region's future. But unless people have better transportation choices, this growth means more cars, more traffic, and a more dangerous setting for pedestrians.

The DEIS makes clear that the “no build” option and the “transportation system management” option will not address our traffic problem: “The increasingly congested east-west roadway system does not have adequate capacity to accommodate the existing average daily traffic

demand, and congestion on the existing routes is projected to worsen as traffic continues to grow through 2030.”²

So doing nothing – or using the band-aid approach called TSM -- is simply not viable for us. Continued reliance on our existing transportation network means that our cars will continue to pollute the air we breathe, pollute the water that runs in our streams and rivers, and destroy our global climate. According to recent analysis from the Brookings Institution, the Washington area ranks near the bottom (89th) of a ranking of the so-called carbon footprint of the 100 largest American metropolitan areas.³

We need to change this state of affairs as a matter of urgency. The chair of the United Nations’ Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has said that we have a short window – basically the next decade – to start altering fundamentally our energy usage in order to avoid a climate crisis.⁴ If we fail to do that, our country and others around the globe will invest shortsightedly in so many wasteful automobiles and factories, and so much urban sprawl, that we will commit ourselves to irreversible damage to the global climate system.

Some have claimed that a light rail Purple Line will not result in significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions, and that a bus rapid transit system would reduce carbon emissions more than a light rail system. This assertion only holds true if you ignore the fact that Governor Martin O’Malley has joined with neighboring northeastern states in the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (or RGGI). Joining RGGI means that the State of Maryland has undertaken a commitment to reduce its greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by 25% below 2006 levels by 2020, and by 90% below 2006 levels by 2050.⁵ As one element of this commitment, renewable energy sources will be more frequently and widely used in the state, and GHG emissions from electricity generation are forecasted to drop 10% by 2019.⁶ In short, the greenhouse gas emissions associated with a light rail Purple Line can -- and in all likelihood -- will drop over time. There is no reason to believe that the emissions levels associated with bus rapid transit would drop because the Purple Line would be locked into the use of whatever BRT technology is initially purchased.⁷

Benefits for east Silver Spring

A broken global climate is not a legacy that I wish to leave to my three children. What I do want to leave as a legacy is a vibrant, diverse neighborhood with a high quality of life, reduced pollution, and better opportunities for us and all our neighbors. This is what the Purple Line is about – mobility, community, and access

The Purple Line is about mobility. As has been noted so many times, the current public transportation system in the Washington area places a premium of moving commuters to and from the District of Columbia, as was the predominant pattern when the Metrorail system was designed 30+ years ago. Today, many residents of Silver Spring work in Bethesda or in College Park, as I did a few years ago. Getting back and forth required long and time-wasting Metrorail routings, or buses that ran infrequently – and never reliably. To avoid hour-long commutes to College Park, I often ended up having no choice but to drive, so I became part of the traffic and pollution problem.

The Purple Line is also about stronger, better communities. Analysis by the Federal Transit Administration and the Department of Housing and Urban Development shows that families that are well-served by transit spend, on average, only 9% of their household income on transportation, whereas families in car-dependent suburbs spend 25%.⁸ Remember that this is for average families. Lack of good public transportation hits poor families much harder, as the Surface Transportation Policy Project has documented.⁹ Families that are able to spend less on transportation have more disposable income for everything from education to the arts and from housing to leisure.

Numerous studies have shown that neighborhoods served by light rail systems have experienced increases in home values. For example, the prestigious annual survey “Emerging Trends in Real Estate,” noted that even in the current weak real estate market, homes that are close to good mass transit systems like the Purple Line are holding their value better and significantly outperforming homes in areas that lack good transit.¹⁰ In Denver, where the city has built and already expanded its light rail system, the Denver Post recently reported that homes near light rail systems enjoy a 15-20 percent premium over other nearby houses.¹¹

Some people in east Silver Spring argue that having a light rail Purple Line travel at grade along Wayne Avenue, as would be the case for the medium-investment option, would ruin our community. This is faulty analysis. To disprove it, we can look at Portland, Oregon, and a host of other cities in this country that are using light rail. Those light rail systems are growing by leaps and bounds because people enjoy riding the light rail systems and view them as a better option than sitting in traffic jams. Or look at the many, many European cities where light rail moves quietly, safely, and smoothly even through historic centers.¹²

Light rail certainly has enhanced -- not destroyed -- those communities. Why would it destroy Silver Spring? If a high-quality Purple Line is built, it will not do so. What will destroy our community is traffic, and that is what awaits us if we do not create options that allow people to get to their jobs, their schools, and to shopping and recreation without getting in their cars.¹³

The Purple Line is about access. As much as we in east Silver Spring would benefit directly from having the Purple Line run through our neighborhood, our neighbors in lower-income areas like Langley Park would benefit even more. So many of those residents rely heavily on transit. In the case of east-west travel, that means being a prisoner of bus service that is slow and unreliable, unless a light rail Purple Line is constructed.

Some critics have said that the Purple Line must not be built because it would risk causing gentrification in Langley Park and other lower-income neighborhoods. This logic does not work. We do need to ensure that lower-income members of our region have good, safe, affordable homes – no question. But these neighbors also need good services – education, health care, transit and so on. Would we withhold the service of the fire department or the water supply in the interests of keeping rents down? No. Let’s not use housing affordability – which is a vital goal for our region – as an excuse to obstruct better transit service that gives access to all members of our diverse community.

Get it built

The best way to ensure that the Purple Line brings benefits to Silver Spring and the other communities along the 16-mile corridor is to move as quickly as possible to construction, and to bring State and local authorities together to work with neighborhoods and respond to legitimate local concerns.¹⁴

Already, MTA has responded to certain local concerns in east Silver Spring – for example, by proposing shared lanes for transit and non-transit vehicles, thus ensuring that on-street parking and left-turns would still be possible along Wayne Avenue. Already, MTA has studied current traffic and the potential for spillover traffic, as our community requested. It would now be useful for the MTA and the County to develop detailed, user-friendly graphics or models showing what the streetscape along Wayne Avenue will look like once the Purple Line is built. Careful concept drawings have been created to depict how the Purple Line could fit with the Capital Crescent Trail, the Woodmont East development, and the Columbia Country Club in Bethesda-Chevy Chase. It is high time for MTA to develop and share with Silver Spring residents well-designed drawings depicting the post-construction Wayne Avenue.

¹³ Some neighbors in east Silver Spring have repeatedly attacked the Purple Line, alleging that it will lead to a host of negative impacts in our area. My group, Silver Spring Advocates, has prepared a response to these standard and (in our view) erroneous assertions about the Purple Line. A copy of our response is appended to these remarks.

¹⁴ Building new transit systems where people live, work, and relax necessarily requires managing legitimate concerns and differentiating between legitimate concerns and obstructionism. For more on this theme, see: Jonathan Elkind, “Going Purple Now for a Greener Future,” Washington Post, June 29, 2008, page B08, a copy of which is appended to these comments.

Earlier this year, my group called for an approach that would result in an improved Wayne Avenue, Wayne Avenue as a Boulevard, as we called it.¹⁵ We still feel that many of these ideas are valid. The State, the County, and the planning board should jointly engage the community in a discussion of the specific features that we want incorporated into the Purple Line as it passes through our neighborhood. Only this type of coordinated approach will give the fence-sitters in my immediate neighborhood a sense of confidence that they know how their neighborhood will be impacted by the Purple Line.

Building the Purple Line is all about giving people along the 16-mile corridor new choices about how they travel. In that sense, building the Purple Line is also about modest but badly-needed change. It is high time for us to get on with the job. Thank you for the opportunity to submit these comments.

Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Response to SOECA anti-Purple Line flyer

In September 2008, Seven Oaks-Evanswood Citizens Association (SOECA) issued a flyer attacking the proposed Purple Line.¹ This “fact sheet” is full of statements that are not facts.

Silver Spring Advocates welcomes an informed debate about the future of our community. As members of Silver Spring Advocates, we are Silver Spring residents dedicated to protecting our community's quality of life. We believe the best way to do that is the timely construction of a high-quality, light-rail Purple Line that helps us – and all our neighbors elsewhere in the inner Maryland suburbs – reduce road congestion, air pollution and climate degradation that will otherwise come as our population grows.

Silver Spring Advocates is a strictly grassroots organization that does not accept donations. For more info about Silver Spring Advocates, contact Jonathan Elkind at silverspringadvocates@yahoo.com.

SOECA's Claim

Fact

“Our neighborhood association, SOECA, asked that a tunnel under Wayne Avenue be fully studied and added as one of the alignments to be fully evaluated in the MTA's ... DEIS/AA being released this fall. MTA did not add the tunnel option to the study.” (page 1, top section)

Simply distorts the truth. At SOECA's request, MTA did evaluate both a full tunnel option and an option of a tunnel below Wayne Avenue to near Mansfield Road. Both were found to be prohibitively expensive, to offer only modest improvement in transit times, and to effectively rule out having stations through eastern Silver Spring. In addition, the former idea (tunnel underneath all of Wayne) was found to have significant technical complexities -- due to tunnel depths required to pass underneath Sligo Creek. As a consequence, the tunnels were not advanced further in the MTA analysis, standard procedure in these kinds of projects. (See DEIS pages 2-4 and 2-5.)

Contradicted by traffic analysis that MTA undertook at SOECA's request. During the morning rush hour, the signalized intersections along Wayne Avenue will have better “level of service” (LOS) with the Purple Line in 2030 than they would under either the no-build or TSM option. During the evening rush hour, LOS will be better for all Wayne Avenue intersections except one (Fenton), which will be slightly worse. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)

“Shared traffic lanes...will further congest the area... increase the train's travel times, confuse drivers, and make accidents more likely.” (page 1, left column)

Shared lanes will not lead to further congestion. On the contrary, as explained above, AM and PM peak congestion will be reduced or stay unchanged at all intersections except one, which will be slightly worse in the PM rush. We also should remember that shared lanes are being considered by MTA because SOECA and Park Hills said we did not want to lose street parking on Wayne. As to the claim about safety hazards, light-rail vehicles will move predictably and consistently because they are on fixed rails. This will not confuse drivers, as asserted. Assertions about accident risk are inconsistent with evidence from scores of light rail systems worldwide. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)

There will be widening near signalized intersections to allow left-turn lanes. No one celebrates this – but we must remember that the turn lanes were requested by this community. And much of the widening will be along a strip of SSIMS property that currently is unused – not from private property.

Let's be realistic. Without the Purple Line, Wayne Avenue will be under pressure to be widened anyway. This was the fate of Colesville Road, which was widened step by step over the years. Widening is happening in Silver Spring today. For example, consider the County's project to widen Dale Drive at Colesville Road. If the Purple Line is not built, Wayne Avenue will be pressured for widening regardless. (For more on the Dale Drive widening project, see: <http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/content/dot/dcd/index.asp?pageid=2&pid=266>.)

"This widening will increase traffic capacity on Wayne. Traffic will then increase to fill this expanded capacity." (page 1, left column)	The widening is being done in response to our community's requests for minimized impacts on local traffic – namely by allowing street parking and providing left-turn lanes. The result of the widening is to allow future traffic flow on Wayne that will be roughly similar if one compares the future with and without PL. Widening will not increase traffic capacity per se. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)
"Elevated noise levels" (page 1, right column)	Flat wrong. As DEIS notes, there would be no impact from street-level light rail on Wayne Avenue (though there would be a noise impact if bus rapid transit is used; we prefer light rail). (See DEIS page 4-54 and 4-55.)
Green space in front of new public library "will instead be used for the train and station" (page 1, right column)	The new Silver Spring library's design is still pending, but the options discussed most recently—in design charettes -- provide for both pleasing green space and the Purple Line stop. (For more on the design charettes, see: http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/libtpl.asp?url=/content/libraries/buildings/ssproject.asp .)
Planned PL station at Wayne and Dale will result in "compromised safety of students" (page 1, right column)	Not true. There will be clearly-delineated crosswalks. Depending on how the station is set up, there could even be more "safe zones" for pedestrians - - midway across Wayne -- thanks to the presence of the station. As DEIS notes, traffic will increase if Purple Line is not built, which poses an increased safety risk for all pedestrians. (DEIS page 4-84.)
Planned PL station at Wayne and Dale will result in "potential rezoning" (page 1, right column)	This contradicts clear statements by MNCPPC staff responsible for zoning. Just as is true now, zoning changes at Wayne and Dale could not occur without community input.
"...Purple Line ... will create many problems for ... businesses and facilities..." (page 2, top left)	Unless we move to build travel alternatives today, future traffic congestion will create problems in our community. Purple Line will offer better access to businesses and facilities, than what we would have in a congested future without the Purple Line. (DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)
Entrance to the large parking lot at SSIMS will need to be moved (page 2, left column)	This lot 's entrance is a nightmare today; more traffic – a sure thing without the Purple Line—will make it worse. Moving the entrance and redesigning access to the SSIMS parking lot offers an opportunity to increase safety.
"Won't take cars off the road" (page 2, right column)	Not true. By 2030, nearly one-third of PL users will be getting out of their cars and switching to transit to cross this corridor. (See DEIS, figures for medium LRT compared to No-Build, page 6-3.)
"Isn't part of Metro" (page 2, right column)	The issue of ownership / management has yet to be decided. Regardless, MTA plans to have full inter-operability for riders using WMATA farecards and SmartTrip cards. (DEIS page 2-31)
"Won't be especially fast" (page 2, right column)	Not accurate. Here are a few comparisons of travel times: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • From Bethesda to Silver Spring Transit Center (SSTC): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ 9 minutes for 2030 med LRT ○ 33 mins for 2030 TSM; ○ 35 mins for 2030 no-build; • From SSTC to U. Maryland campus: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ 25 mins for 2030 med LRT, ○ 44 mins for 2030 TSM, ○ 47 mins for 2030 no-build Yes, the street-level passage through DTSS slows down the transit times somewhat, but even so the Purple Line will be quick and reliable. (See DEIS pages 6-2 and 6-5.)
"Will displace some existing bus lines and bus stops" (page 2, right column)	Yes – and this is positive. Purple Line will allow some buses to be replaced by less-polluting, faster, and more reliable transit vehicles. As MTA notes, many buses currently operating along in the Purple Line corridor take 50% longer to complete their trips than their schedules indicate, and this unreliable service discourages transit use. (DEIS page 2-9)

Going Purple Now, For a Greener Future

Sunday, June 29, 2008; B08

With the Senate's debate this month on climate change, the federal government at long last has started to grapple with a response to global warming.

A related debate about energy use, environmental protection and intelligent trade-offs is unfolding now in Maryland as the state develops options for its proposal to build the Purple Line [editorial, May 31].

Today, we can travel from suburb to downtown Washington using Metro, but travel within the suburbs typically requires getting in a car and polluting the air. A light-rail Purple Line would give us an important new option. It would run from Bethesda to New Carrollton and help people travel to jobs, schools and entertainment. Riders would take more than 65,000 trips each workday [Metro, May 30]. Some would be first-time transit-users; others would use the line to travel faster and more reliably than they can on buses.

Sound like a no-brainer? Not so fast.

The challenge for the Purple Line is to provide the benefits we need -- better transportation, cleaner air, less traffic -- while accommodating legitimate neighborhood concerns.

This can be tricky. New transit systems need to operate where there are people -- namely, in existing neighborhoods. Those living closest to the new transit will benefit from easy access to rapid transit and fewer cars on the roads. Some worry, however, that their neighborhoods may be asked to bear an unfair burden, pointing to concerns about traffic and pedestrian safety. But these problems are already growing exponentially as more cars clog our streets. In fact, the only way to address such problems and protect our quality of life is better mass transit.

In Chevy Chase, the Columbia Country Club straddles the defunct rail bed that is the logical Purple Line route. The rail bed has long been designated for use as a hiker-biker trail and a transit way, and there is space for both with attractive landscaping. But the club has free use of much of this public land, and in March, it took the extraordinary step of dipping into its reserves to fund Purple Line opponents. The club and local residents want the Purple Line in someone else's back yard.

In College Park, University of Maryland students strongly support the Purple Line. Administrators also support the project, but they have asked the state to shift the line away from the center of campus. This would repeat an earlier mistake when College Park's Metro station was constructed far from campus, discouraging transit use.

Near my home in Silver Spring, the Purple Line would probably travel on surface streets, because an underground route -- which many favor -- would be prohibitively expensive. Tunnels cost on the order of $150 million to $200 million per mile. Today's budgets simply won't allow that luxury. But a well-designed street-level route could give my neighborhood a cleaner, greener, renovated streetscape, with fewer cars on the road.

New public transportation is hard -- but essential. State and local political leaders need to stay focused on creating systems that serve us where we live, work, study and play. Planners must reject special pleading but heed valid community input, addressing local problems and even offering new amenities to reinforce local support.

Change can be uncomfortable. But smart mass transit offers the only prospect to enhance our communities and reduce our impact on our globe. If we do not find ways to build the Purple Line, then a decade from now we will still be sitting in cars wondering what to do about our traffic and our warming climate.

Silver Spring Advocates:
Supporting our Community and the Purple Line

415 Ellsworth Drive
Silver Spring, MD 20910

July 13, 2008

The Honorable Ike Leggett
Montgomery County Executive
Executive Office Building
101 Monroe Street, 2nd Floor
Rockville, MD 20850

Dear County Executive Leggett:

We are residents of Montgomery County who are committed to enhancing our quality of life, and committed to the vision of a vibrant, growing, accessible, and sustainable community. We believe the Purple Line is a vital part of our future.

We write to seek your continued support for a high-quality, light-rail Purple Line. Specifically, we urge you to give consistent and vocal support to the earliest possible construction of the Purple Line, and we seek an opportunity to meet with you or your senior staff to learn how you plan to employ the weight of your office to support the project in the coming months.

We love living in a community that enjoys good economic health and that attracts people from so many socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds. But, as our community grows, we need new public transportation infrastructure to avoid traffic paralysis, dirtier air, an altered global climate, and a worsening of our quality of life.

The most recent analysis by the Maryland Transit Administration (MTA) indicates that over 60,000 trips would be taken on a light-rail Purple Line on the average workday. This clearly indicates the need for, and the attractiveness of, the proposed system. A significant portion of these riders would be new transit users. Others would use the Purple Line because it would move them faster and more reliably -- and with less air pollution -- than the buses that they currently use.

Of course, there are challenges associated with building new transit infrastructure through existing communities. We know this first-hand because many of us live in the eastern part of Silver Spring, where every possible routing has complications. However, we are convinced that even if the Purple Line runs through our neighborhood at street level, it will make a positive impact on our neighborhood if it is designed with care. These benefits would take the form of decreased air pollution, reduced congestion, and an opportunity for the reconstruction and re-landscaping of busy urban streets.

If funds were available to construct a tunnel underneath Silver Spring, many of us would favor that option. But in this time of exceptionally tight budgets, the idea of increasing the project budget by $150 million or more for a tunnel is simply unrealistic. The challenge for State and County leaders will be to listen carefully to local concerns (which MTA is now focusing on), design the Purple Line with care, and make sure that all neighborhoods close to the right-of-way understand that their legitimate concerns are shaping the resulting project. The attached flyer, which Silver Spring Advocates prepared at the start of the year, explains our vision for the Purple Line through eastern Silver Spring.

We view the Purple Line as a vital part of our region's future transportation infrastructure. All the residents of our county – and our neighbors next door in Prince George's County – would benefit from a well-designed Purple Line that is built in a timely manner. Thus, now more than ever, your political leadership is essential.

We encourage you to enunciate the many benefits that the project will bring to all our communities, and we urge you to speak against the efforts of those who say Purple Line is fine, but "not in my back yard." Please do your utmost during your tenure as County Executive to ensure the timely completion of the Purple Line. This would be a most remarkable achievement and legacy.

We will welcome the opportunity to meet and discuss this matter with you or members of your staff.

Sincerely yours,

Jonathan Elkind

Silver Spring Advocates:
Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Mission Statement

Silver Spring Advocates (SSA) is a network of local residents who are committed to the health and vitality of our neighborhoods throughout the greater Silver Spring community. We seek to work constructively with all our neighbors -- be they homeowners, apartment dwellers, or condominium owners -- and with local business people, other stakeholders, and our elected officials in support of our goals. SSA views congestion from steadily increasing car traffic as a major threat to our community, as well as the global environment. We seek high-quality public transit because it provides an alternative to car travel and gridlocked roads, and can provide quick, cost-effective, and environmentally-friendly transportation for all members of our community. In this context, we the members of Silver Spring Advocates are committed to the timely construction of the Purple Line in a manner that enhances the project's positive impacts on our neighborhoods while eliminating or mitigating any negative impacts.

Adopted January 2008

Purple Line can enhance life in Silver Spring

Let’s make Wayne Avenue a beautiful boulevard!

What is the Purple Line?

- A proposed light rail transit line connecting to Metrorail at Bethesda, Silver Spring, College Park, and New Carrollton, with stops in-between.
- A system that will carry between 42,000 and 45,000 riders each weekday -- well above average for existing and proposed U.S. light rail projects.*
- A means to improve travel times for Silver Spring residents – especially as traffic steadily worsens all across our region:
 - Travel from downtown Silver Spring to downtown Bethesda will take only 9 minutes.*
 - Travel time will also be reduced significantly to the University of Maryland and New Carrollton.
- An opportunity to enhance life on Wayne Avenue and throughout our neighborhoods.

Travel times from stop at Wayne Avenue and Manchester Road*
* MTA "Medium Investment LRT" option, 12/07
Silver Spring Downtown 4 min.	Bethesda Downtown 13 min.	Takoma / Langley Crossroads 8 min.	U.Maryland Student Union 23 min.

Where will the Purple Line run through Silver Spring?

- To the Silver Spring Metrorail station from Bethesda and Chevy Chase...
- ...and then (likely) along Bonifant Street to Fenton Street and along Wayne to Manchester Road.

The Purple Line is an opportunity to create a new, pedestrian-friendly Wayne Avenue

- Light rail trains are quiet and pollution-free.
- They will travel along Wayne at posted speed limits -- not racing like many cars do today.
- Light rail transit lines have operated across the US and around the world in attractive residential neighborhoods for a century or more.

Paris Showed How To Do It – The new T-3 line is revitalizing a corridor with new bike paths, trees, sidewalks, crosswalks and lighting

Light rail is successful around the U.S. – Media, PA, as shown here, has nearly 100 years’ experience; Boston, Portland, Denver, LA, others also have it

Who are we?

- We are Silver Spring residents who see the Purple Line as a way to protect our quality of life. We come from these neighborhoods: Seven Oaks-Evanswood, Park Hills, East Silver Spring, Indian Spring, South Silver Spring, Woodside, North Woodside, Woodside Park, and other neighborhoods of the downtown area.

We need your help to get the Purple Line right!

- To help, or get info, contact one of our neighborhood coordinators – see next page.

How Can We Make Wayne Avenue a 21st-Century Boulevard?

By ensuring that a well-designed Purple Line is built soon!

By getting the State and County to deliver a package deal for the right Purple Line – namely, one that will:

Leave Room for Parking

The Purple Line must allow parking for the homes, schools, and churches along Wayne Avenue. Cars should “share lanes” with light rail at least in non-rush hours to permit street parking along Wayne. The Purple Line project should include a plan that provides parking permits for residents while ensuring access to driveways and that redesigns the drop-off and parking areas for Silver Spring International MS and Sligo Creek ES.

Improve Our Streetscape

Light rail is powered by overhead lines – not ground-level “third rails.” By selecting a good design, these power lines can meet the highest design standards and be integrated with high-quality street lighting, clear street signs, and beautiful landscaping. New trees and shrubs should be planted as part of construction, in consultation with affected homeowners.

Enhance our Community

Other light rail projects have had a positive impact on neighborhoods. A well-designed Purple Line can improve facilities and enhance home values on Wayne Avenue. As only one example, the Purple Line project should include renovating the athletic fields and kids’ playground next to SSIMS to preserve parking and restore the aging facilities.

Protect Sligo Creek

The Purple Line will cross Sligo Creek, which must be protected and improved. Light rail is quieter than buses and does not result in tailpipe emissions, but the Purple Line should make special efforts to control storm water, limit noise, and protect natural habitats. Every tree that is removed should be replaced by two new trees.

Protect Pedestrians

Today, cars speed dangerously along Wayne Avenue. The street can be safer with the Purple Line than it is today. The Purple Line project must include crosswalks to protect residents -- especially our children attending SSIMS, Sligo Creek Elementary, and St. Michael’s Schools. The project could also include new sidewalks through our neighborhoods, especially where they would help schoolchildren have a place to walk safely.

Control Cut-through Traffic

With traffic steadily worsening in Silver Spring, we are already seeing more drivers cutting through and spilling over into our neighborhoods. The Purple Line needs to be designed to reduce future congestion. County authorities must also develop a comprehensive plan to calm traffic and reduce spill-over on roads like Sligo Creek Parkway, Cedar, and Dale and on neighboring side streets.

Portland, Oregon is an example of a US city with mixed lanes for cars and light rail

Reflect Community Priorities

Silver Spring must have an opportunity to participate more actively in decisions about specific features of the Purple Line in our community. Important issues to be discussed will be: whether to place a Purple Line stop at Dale and Wayne, and how to ensure that the hiker-biker Green Trail is completed in parallel with the Purple Line project.

The Time Has Come:

- Our community – including Wayne Avenue -- is under threat from traffic and congestion.
- Our community can be protected by building a high-quality Purple Line – soon!

Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Written Comments on the Purple Line AA/DEIS

Jonathan Elkind

My name is Jonathan Elkind, and I have been a homeowner in Silver Spring for nearly 18 years. I work full-time as an energy-environment consultant, and part-time as a non-resident senior fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, DC. I am a member of the Seven Oaks-Evanswood Citizens Association (SOECA). I am also the chairperson of a grassroots group of over 100 residents of Silver Spring, called Silver Spring Advocates.

I strongly support a light-rail Purple Line, and my comments will draw on all the perspectives I just mentioned – those of a consultant and researcher-author, those of an active community member in east Silver Spring, and those of a Purple Line advocate who hopes the line will be built – built well, built soon, and built right near my own home.

Need for the Purple Line

Residents of the Maryland suburbs need the Purple Line for the reason that is highlighted in the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS): We are drowning under traffic. We can see this on our roads every day. Traffic grows dramatically as new residential housing and new office space are constructed in Silver Spring, and as suburban sprawl stretches all across the greater Washington area. According to data from the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments, the number of households in the Silver Spring central business district will grow by 48% by 2030, and the number of jobs will increase by 16%.¹ Smart, concentrated growth is an essential part of our region's future. But unless people have better transportation choices, this growth means more cars, more traffic, and a more dangerous setting for pedestrians.

The DEIS makes clear that the “no build” option and the “transportation system management” option will not address our traffic problem: “The increasingly congested east-west roadway system does not have adequate capacity to accommodate the existing average daily traffic

demand, and congestion on the existing routes is projected to worsen as traffic continues to grow through 2030.”²

So doing nothing – or using the band-aid approach called TSM -- is simply not viable for us. Continued reliance on our existing transportation network means that our cars will continue to pollute the air we breathe, pollute the water that runs in our streams and rivers, and destroy our global climate. According to recent analysis from the Brookings Institution, the Washington area ranks near the bottom (89th) of a ranking of the so-called carbon footprint of the 100 largest American metropolitan areas.³

We need to change this state of affairs as a matter of urgency. The chair of the United Nations’ Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has said that we have a short window – basically the next decade – to start altering fundamentally our energy usage in order to avoid a climate crisis.⁴ If we fail to do that, our country and others around the globe will invest shortsightedly in so many wasteful automobiles and factories, and so much urban sprawl, that we will commit ourselves to irreversible damage to the global climate system.

Some have claimed that a light rail Purple Line will not result in significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions, and that a bus rapid transit system would reduce carbon emissions more than a light rail system. This assertion only holds true if you ignore the fact that Governor Martin O’Malley has joined with neighboring northeastern states in the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (or RGGI). Joining RGGI means that the State of Maryland has undertaken a commitment to reduce its greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by 25% below 2006 levels by 2020, and by 90% below 2006 levels by 2050.⁵ As one element of this commitment, renewable energy sources will be more frequently and widely used in the state, and GHG emissions from electricity generation are forecasted to drop 10% by 2019.⁶ In short, the greenhouse gas emissions associated with a light rail Purple Line can -- and in all likelihood -- will drop over time. There is no reason to believe that the emissions levels associated with bus rapid transit would drop because the Purple Line would be locked into the use of whatever BRT technology is initially purchased.⁷

A broken global climate is not a legacy that I wish to leave to my three children. What I do want to leave as a legacy is a vibrant, diverse neighborhood with a high quality of life, reduced pollution, and better opportunities for us and all our neighbors. This is what the Purple Line is about – mobility, community, and access

The Purple Line is about mobility. As has been noted so many times, the current public transportation system in the Washington area places a premium of moving commuters to and from the District of Columbia, as was the predominant pattern when the Metrorail system was designed 30+ years ago. Today, many residents of Silver Spring work in Bethesda or in College Park, as I did a few years ago. Getting back and forth required long and time-wasting Metrorail routings, or buses that ran infrequently – and never reliably. To avoid hour-long commutes to College Park, I often ended up having no choice but to drive, so I became part of the traffic and pollution problem.

The Purple Line is also about stronger, better communities. Analysis by the Federal Transit Administration and the Department of Housing and Urban Development shows that families that are well-served by transit spend, on average, only 9% of their household income on ⁶ Brian Hug, "Governor O'Malley Takes Steps to Fight Climate Change in Maryland," Air and Radiation Management Administration, Maryland Department of the Environment, May 2007, available at: <http://www.mde.state.md.us/ResearchCenter/Publications/General/eMDE/vol3no1/RGGI.asp>.

⁷ In analyzing the greenhouse gas emissions of the various build options, the DEIS appears to employ standard CO₂ emissions coefficients, as developed by the US Department of Energy's Energy Information Administration (per discussion on page 4-46). Granted, the emissions reductions forecasted under Governor O'Malley's climate policy (mentioned in the main text) cannot be treated as a certainty at this time. Granted also, there may be technological improvements for either LRT or BRT or both that would allow future generations of those systems to consume significantly less energy than the current technology does. But these improvements would only come to bear after the first crop of either LRT or BRT vehicles is retired from service after their useful lives. The significant potential for near-term reductions in GHG emissions (from LRT only) should not be ignored in the DEIS analysis, as is currently the case. The Final EIS should at the minimum include one or more sensitivity cases that show how the GHG emissions profiles of the build options would vary under credible scenarios for future power generation.

transportation, whereas families in car-dependent suburbs spend 25%.⁸ Remember that this is for average families. Lack of good public transportation hits poor families much harder, as the Surface Transportation Policy Project has documented.⁹ Families that are able to spend less on transportation have more disposable income for everything from education to the arts and from housing to leisure.

Numerous studies have shown that neighborhoods served by light rail systems have experienced increases in home values. For example, the prestigious annual survey "Emerging Trends in Real Estate," noted that even in the current weak real estate market, homes that are close to good mass transit systems like the Purple Line are holding their value better and significantly outperforming homes in areas that lack good transit.¹⁰ In Denver, where the city has built and already expanded its light rail system, the Denver Post recently reported that homes near light rail systems enjoy a 15-20 percent premium over other nearby houses.¹¹

Some people in east Silver Spring argue that having a light rail Purple Line travel at grade along Wayne Avenue, as would be the case for the medium-investment option, would ruin our community. This is faulty analysis. To disprove it, we can look at Portland, Oregon, and a host of other cities in this country that are using light rail. Those light rail systems are growing by leaps and bounds because people enjoy riding the light rail systems and view them as a better option than sitting in traffic jams. Or look at the many, many European cities where light rail moves quietly, safely, and smoothly even through historic centers.¹²

Light rail certainly has enhanced -- not destroyed -- those communities. Why would it destroy Silver Spring? If a high-quality Purple Line is built, it will not do so. What will destroy our community is traffic, and that is what awaits us if we do not create options that allow people to get to their jobs, their schools, and to shopping and recreation without getting in their cars.¹³

The Purple Line is about access. As much as we in east Silver Spring would benefit directly from having the Purple Line run through our neighborhood, our neighbors in lower-income areas like Langley Park would benefit even more. So many of those residents rely heavily on transit. In the case of east-west travel, that means being a prisoner of bus service that is slow and unreliable, unless a light rail Purple Line is constructed.

Some critics have said that the Purple Line must not be built because it would risk causing gentrification in Langley Park and other lower-income neighborhoods. This logic does not work. We do need to ensure that lower-income members of our region have good, safe, affordable homes – no question. But these neighbors also need good services – education, health care, transit and so on. Would we withhold the service of the fire department or the water supply in the interests of keeping rents down? No. Let's not use housing affordability – which is a vital goal for our region – as an excuse to obstruct better transit service that gives access to all members of our diverse community.

Get it built

The best way to ensure that the Purple Line brings benefits to Silver Spring and the other communities along the 16-mile corridor is to move as quickly as possible to construction, and to bring State and local authorities together to work with neighborhoods and respond to legitimate local concerns.¹⁴

Already, MTA has responded to certain local concerns in east Silver Spring – for example, by proposing shared lanes for transit and non-transit vehicles, thus ensuring that on-street parking and left-turns would still be possible along Wayne Avenue. Already, MTA has studied current

¹³ Some neighbors in east Silver Spring have repeatedly attacked the Purple Line, alleging that it will lead to a host of negative impacts in our area. My group, Silver Spring Advocates, has prepared a response to these standard and (in our view) erroneous assertions about the Purple Line. A copy of our response is appended to these remarks.

¹⁴ Building new transit systems where people live, work, and relax necessarily requires managing legitimate concerns and differentiating between legitimate concerns and obstructionism. For more on this theme, see: Jonathan Elkind, "Going Purple Now for a Greener Future," Washington Post, June 29, 2008, page B08, a copy of which is appended to these comments.

traffic and the potential for spillover traffic, as our community requested. It would now be useful for the MTA and the County to develop detailed, user-friendly graphics or models showing what the streetscape along Wayne Avenue will look like once the Purple Line is built. Careful concept drawings have been created to depict how the Purple Line could fit with the Capital Crescent Trail, the Woodmont East development, and the Columbia Country Club in Bethesda-Chevy Chase. It is high time for MTA to develop and share with Silver Spring residents well-designed drawings depicting the post-construction Wayne Avenue.

Earlier this year, my group called for an approach that would result in an improved Wayne Avenue, Wayne Avenue as a Boulevard, as we called it.¹⁵ We still feel that many of these ideas are valid. The State, the County, and the planning board should jointly engage the community in a discussion of the specific features that we want incorporated into the Purple Line as it passes through our neighborhood. Only this type of coordinated approach will give the fence-sitters in my immediate neighborhood a sense of confidence that they know how their neighborhood will be impacted by the Purple Line.

Building the Purple Line is all about giving people along the 16-mile corridor new choices about how they travel. In that sense, building the Purple Line is also about modest but badly-needed change. It is high time for us to get on with the job. Thank you for the opportunity to submit these comments.

Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Response to SOECA anti-Purple Line flyer

In September 2008, Seven Oaks-Evanswood Citizens Association (SOECA) issued a flyer attacking the proposed Purple Line.¹ This "fact sheet" is full of statements that are not facts.

Silver Spring Advocates welcomes an informed debate about the future of our community. As members of Silver Spring Advocates, we are Silver Spring residents dedicated to protecting our community's quality of life. We believe the best way to do that is the timely construction of a high-quality, light-rail Purple Line that helps us – and all our neighbors elsewhere in the inner Maryland suburbs – reduce road congestion, air pollution and climate degradation that will otherwise come as our population grows.

Silver Spring Advocates is a strictly grassroots organization that does not accept donations. For more info about Silver Spring Advocates, contact Jonathan Elkind at silverspringadvocates@yahoo.com.

SOECA's Claim

Fact

"Our neighborhood association, SOECA, asked that a tunnel under Wayne Avenue be fully studied and added as one of the alignments to be fully evaluated in the MTA's ... DEIS/AA being released this fall. MTA did not add the tunnel option to the study." (page 1, top section)

Simply distorts the truth. At SOECA's request, MTA did evaluate both a full tunnel option and an option of a tunnel below Wayne Avenue to near Mansfield Road. Both were found to be prohibitively expensive, to offer only modest improvement in transit times, and to effectively rule out having stations through eastern Silver Spring. In addition, the former idea (tunnel underneath all of Wayne) was found to have significant technical complexities – due to tunnel depths required to pass underneath Sligo Creek. As a consequence, the tunnels were not advanced further in the MTA analysis, standard procedure in these kinds of projects. (See DEIS pages 2-4 and 2-5.)

"Street level route will worsen already horrendous traffic congestion for blocks on Georgia, Fenton, Wayne..." (page 1, left column)

Contradicted by traffic analysis that MTA undertook at SOECA's request. During the morning rush hour, the signalized intersections along Wayne Avenue will have better "level of service" (LOS) with the Purple Line in 2030 than they would under either the no-build or TSM option. During the evening rush hour, LOS will be better for all Wayne Avenue intersections except one (Fenton), which will be slightly worse. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)

"Shared traffic lanes... will further congest the area... increase the train's travel times, confuse drivers, and make accidents more likely." (page 1, left column)

Shared lanes will not lead to further congestion. On the contrary, as explained above, AM and PM peak congestion will be reduced or stay unchanged at all intersections except one, which will be slightly worse in the PM rush. We also should remember that shared lanes are being considered by MTA because SOECA and Park Hills said we did not want to lose street parking on Wayne. As to the claim about safety hazards, light-rail vehicles will move predictably and consistently because they are on fixed rails. This will not confuse drivers, as asserted. Assertions about accident risk are inconsistent with evidence from scores of light rail systems worldwide. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)

"Approximately 60% of the length of Wayne between Fenton and Sligo Creek Parkway will be widened." (page 1, left column)

There will be widening near signalized intersections to allow left-turn lanes. No one celebrates this – but we must remember that the turn lanes were requested by this community. And much of the widening will be along a strip of SSIMS property that currently is unused – not from private property.

Let's be realistic. Without the Purple Line, Wayne Avenue will be under pressure to be widened anyway. This was the fate of Colesville Road, which was widened step by step over the years. Widening is happening in Silver Spring today. For example, consider the County's project to widen Dale Drive at Colesville Road. If the Purple Line is not built, Wayne Avenue will be pressured for widening regardless. (For more on the Dale Drive widening project, see: <http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/content/dot/dcd/index.asp?pageid=2&pid=266>.)

"This widening will increase traffic capacity on Wayne. Traffic will then increase to fill this expanded capacity." (page 1, left column)	The widening is being done in response to our community's requests for minimized impacts on local traffic – namely by allowing street parking and providing left-turn lanes. The result of the widening is to allow future traffic flow on Wayne that will be roughly similar if one compares the future with and without PL. Widening will not increase traffic capacity per se. (See DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)
"Elevated noise levels" (page 1, right column)	Flat wrong. As DEIS notes, there would be no impact from street-level light rail on Wayne Avenue (though there would be a noise impact if bus rapid transit is used; we prefer light rail). (See DEIS page 4-54 and 4-55.)
Green space in front of new public library "will instead be used for the train and station" (page 1, right column)	The new Silver Spring library's design is still pending, but the options discussed most recently—in design charettes—provide for both pleasing green space and the Purple Line stop. (For more on the design charettes, see: http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/libtmpl.asp?url=/content/libraries/buildings/ssproject.asp .)
Planned PL station at Wayne and Dale will result in "compromised safety of students" (page 1, right column)	Not true. There will be clearly-delineated crosswalks. Depending on how the station is set up, there could even be more "safe zones" for pedestrians – midway across Wayne – thanks to the presence of the station. As DEIS notes, traffic will increase if Purple Line is not built, which poses an increased safety risk for all pedestrians. (DEIS page 4-84.)
Planned PL station at Wayne and Dale will result in "potential rezoning" (page 1, right column)	This contradicts clear statements by MNCPPC staff responsible for zoning. Just as is true now, zoning changes at Wayne and Dale could not occur without community input.
"... Purple Line ... will create many problems for ... businesses and facilities..." (page 2, top left)	Unless we move to build travel alternatives today, future traffic congestion will create problems in our community. Purple Line will offer better access to businesses and facilities, than what we would have in a congested future without the Purple Line. (DEIS pages 3-15 and 3-16.)
Entrance to the large parking lot at SSIMS will need to be moved (page 2, left column)	This lot's entrance is a nightmare today; more traffic – a sure thing without the Purple Line—will make it worse. Moving the entrance and redesigning access to the SSIMS parking lot offers an opportunity to increase safety.
"Won't take cars off the road" (page 2, right column)	Not true. By 2030, nearly one-third of PL users will be getting out of their cars and switching to transit to cross this corridor. (See DEIS, figures for medium LRT compared to No-Build, page 6-3.)
"Isn't part of Metro" (page 2, right column)	The issue of ownership / management has yet to be decided. Regardless, MTA plans to have full inter-operability for riders using WMATA farecards and SmartTrip cards. (DEIS page 2-31)
"Won't be especially fast" (page 2, right column)	Not accurate. Here are a few comparisons of travel times: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> From Bethesda to Silver Spring Transit Center (SSTC): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 9 minutes for 2030 med LRT 33 mins for 2030 TSM; 35 mins for 2030 no-build; From SSTC to U. Maryland campus: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 25 mins for 2030 med LRT, 44 mins for 2030 TSM, 47 mins for 2030 no-build Yes, the street-level passage through DTSS slows down the transit times somewhat, but even so the Purple Line will be quick and reliable. (See DEIS pages 6-2 and 6-5.)
"Will displace some existing bus lines and bus stops" (page 2, right column)	Yes – and this is positive. Purple Line will allow some buses to be replaced by less-polluting, faster, and more reliable transit vehicles. As MTA notes, many buses currently operating along in the Purple Line corridor take 50% longer to complete their trips than their schedules indicate, and this unreliable service discourages transit use. (DEIS page 2-9)

Going Purple Now, For a Greener Future

Sunday, June 29, 2008; B08

With the Senate's debate this month on climate change, the federal government at long last has started to grapple with a response to global warming.

A related debate about energy use, environmental protection and intelligent trade-offs is unfolding now in Maryland as the state develops options for its proposal to build the Purple Line [editorial, May 31].

Today, we can travel from suburb to downtown Washington using Metro, but travel within the suburbs typically requires getting in a car and polluting the air. A light-rail Purple Line would give us an important new option. It would run from Bethesda to New Carrollton and help people travel to jobs, schools and entertainment. Riders would take more than 65,000 trips each workday [Metro, May 30]. Some would be first-time transit-users; others would use the line to travel faster and more reliably than they can on buses.

Sound like a no-brainer? Not so fast.

The challenge for the Purple Line is to provide the benefits we need -- better transportation, cleaner air, less traffic -- while accommodating legitimate neighborhood concerns.

This can be tricky. New transit systems need to operate where there are people -- namely, in existing neighborhoods. Those living closest to the new transit will benefit from easy access to rapid transit and fewer cars on the roads. Some worry, however, that their neighborhoods may be asked to bear an unfair burden, pointing to concerns about traffic and pedestrian safety. But these problems are already growing exponentially as more cars clog our streets. In fact, the only way to address such problems and protect our quality of life is better mass transit.

In Chevy Chase, the Columbia Country Club straddles the defunct rail bed that is the logical Purple Line route. The rail bed has long been designated for use as a hiker-biker trail and a transit way, and there is space for both with attractive landscaping. But the club has free use of much of this public land, and in March, it took the extraordinary step of dipping into its reserves to fund Purple Line opponents. The club and local residents want the Purple Line in someone else's back yard.

In College Park, University of Maryland students strongly support the Purple Line. Administrators also support the project, but they have asked the state to shift the line away from the center of campus. This would repeat an earlier mistake when College Park's Metro station was constructed far from campus, discouraging transit use.

Near my home in Silver Spring, the Purple Line would probably travel on surface streets, because an underground route -- which many favor -- would be prohibitively expensive. Tunnels cost on the order of $150 million to $200 million per mile. Today's budgets simply won't allow that luxury. But a well-designed street-level route could give my neighborhood a cleaner, greener, renovated streetscape, with fewer cars on the road.

New public transportation is hard -- but essential. State and local political leaders need to stay focused on creating systems that serve us where we live, work, study and play. Planners must reject special pleading but heed valid community input, addressing local problems and even offering new amenities to reinforce local support.

Change can be uncomfortable. But smart mass transit offers the only prospect to enhance our communities and reduce our impact on our globe. If we do not find ways to build the Purple Line, then a decade from now we will still be sitting in cars wondering what to do about our traffic and our warming climate.

Silver Spring Advocates:
Supporting our Community and the Purple Line

415 Ellsworth Drive
Silver Spring, MD 20910

July 13, 2008

The Honorable Ike Leggett
Montgomery County Executive
Executive Office Building
101 Monroe Street, 2nd Floor
Rockville, MD 20850

Dear County Executive Leggett:

We are residents of Montgomery County who are committed to enhancing our quality of life, and committed to the vision of a vibrant, growing, accessible, and sustainable community. We believe the Purple Line is a vital part of our future.

We write to seek your continued support for a high-quality, light-rail Purple Line. Specifically, we urge you to give consistent and vocal support to the earliest possible construction of the Purple Line, and we seek an opportunity to meet with you or your senior staff to learn how you plan to employ the weight of your office to support the project in the coming months.

We love living in a community that enjoys good economic health and that attracts people from so many socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds. But, as our community grows, we need new public transportation infrastructure to avoid traffic paralysis, dirtier air, an altered global climate, and a worsening of our quality of life.

The most recent analysis by the Maryland Transit Administration (MTA) indicates that over 60,000 trips would be taken on a light-rail Purple Line on the average workday. This clearly indicates the need for, and the attractiveness of, the proposed system. A significant portion of these riders would be new transit users. Others would use the Purple Line because it would move them faster and more reliably -- and with less air pollution -- than the buses that they currently use.

Of course, there are challenges associated with building new transit infrastructure through existing communities. We know this first-hand because many of us live in the eastern part of Silver Spring, where every possible routing has complications. However, we are convinced that even if the Purple Line runs through our neighborhood at street level, it will make a positive impact on our neighborhood if it is designed with care. These benefits would take the form of decreased air pollution, reduced congestion, and an opportunity for the reconstruction and re-landscaping of busy urban streets.

If funds were available to construct a tunnel undemeath Silver Spring, many of us would favor that option. But in this time of exceptionally tight budgets, the idea of increasing the project budget by $150 million or more for a tunnel is simply unrealistic. The challenge for State and County leaders will be to listen carefully to local concerns (which MTA is now focusing on), design the Purple Line with care, and make sure that all neighborhoods close to the right-of-way understand that their legitimate concerns are shaping the resulting project. The attached flyer, which Silver Spring Advocates prepared at the start of the year, explains our vision for the Purple Line through eastern Silver Spring.

We view the Purple Line as a vital part of our region's future transportation infrastructure. All the residents of our county – and our neighbors next door in Prince George's County – would benefit from a well-designed Purple Line that is built in a timely manner. Thus, now more than ever, your political leadership is essential.

We encourage you to enunciate the many benefits that the project will bring to all our communities, and we urge you to speak against the efforts of those who say Purple Line is fine, but "not in my back yard." Please do your utmost during your tenure as County Executive to ensure the timely completion of the Purple Line. This would be a most remarkable achievement and legacy.

We will welcome the opportunity to meet and discuss this matter with you or members of your staff.

Sincerely yours,

Jonathan Elkind
Chairperson
Silver Spring Advocates

Silver Spring Advocates:
Supporting Our Community and the Purple Line

Mission Statement

Silver Spring Advocates (SSA) is a network of local residents who are committed to the health and vitality of our neighborhoods throughout the greater Silver Spring community. We seek to work constructively with all our neighbors -- be they homeowners, apartment dwellers, or condominium owners -- and with local business people, other stakeholders, and our elected officials in support of our goals. SSA views congestion from steadily increasing car traffic as a major threat to our community, as well as the global environment. We seek high-quality public transit because it provides an alternative to car travel and gridlocked roads, and can provide quick, cost-effective, and environmentally-friendly transportation for all members of our community. In this context, we the members of Silver Spring Advocates are committed to the timely construction of the Purple Line in a manner that enhances the project's positive impacts on our neighborhoods while eliminating or mitigating any negative impacts.

Adopted January 2008

Purple Line can enhance life in Silver Spring

Let's make Wayne Avenue a beautiful boulevard!

What is the Purple Line?

- A proposed light rail transit line connecting to Metrorail at Bethesda, Silver Spring, College Park, and New Carrollton, with stops in-between.
- A system that will carry between 42,000 and 45,000 riders each weekday – well above average for existing and proposed U.S. light rail projects.*
- A means to improve travel times for Silver Spring residents – especially as traffic steadily worsens all across our region:
 - Travel from downtown Silver Spring to downtown Bethesda will take only 9 minutes.*
 - Travel time will also be reduced significantly to the University of Maryland and New Carrollton.
- An opportunity to enhance life on Wayne Avenue and throughout our neighborhoods.

Travel times from stop at Wayne Avenue and Manchester Road*

* MTA "Medium Investment LRT" option, 12/07

Silver Spring Downtown 4 min.	Bethesda Downtown 13 min.	Takoma / Langley Crossroads 8 min.	U.Maryland Student Union 23 min.
-------------------------------------	---------------------------------	--	--

Where will the Purple Line run through Silver Spring?

- To the Silver Spring Metrorail station from Bethesda and Chevy Chase...
- ...and then (likely) along Bonifant Street to Fenton Street and along Wayne to Manchester Road.

The Purple Line is an opportunity to create a new, pedestrian-friendly Wayne Avenue

- Light rail trains are quiet and pollution-free.
- They will travel along Wayne at posted speed limits – not racing like many cars do today.
- Light rail transit lines have operated across the US and around the world in attractive residential neighborhoods for a century or more.

Paris Showed How To Do It – The new T-3 line is revitalizing a corridor with new bike paths, trees, sidewalks, crosswalks and lighting

Light rail is successful around the U.S. – Media, PA, as shown here, has nearly 100 years' experience; Boston, Portland, Denver, LA, others also have it

Who are we?

- We are Silver Spring residents who see the Purple Line as a way to protect our quality of life. We come from these neighborhoods: Seven Oaks-Evanswood, Park Hills, East Silver Spring, Indian Spring, South Silver Spring, Woodside, North Woodside, Woodside Park, and other neighborhoods of the downtown area.

We need your help to get the Purple Line right!

- To help, or get info, contact one of our neighborhood coordinators – see next page.

How Can We Make Wayne Avenue a 21st-Century Boulevard?

By ensuring that a well-designed Purple Line is built soon!

By getting the State and County to deliver a package deal for the right Purple Line – namely, one that will:

Leave Room for Parking

The Purple Line must allow parking for the homes, schools, and churches along Wayne Avenue. Cars should "share lanes" with light rail at least in non-rush hours to permit street parking along Wayne. The Purple Line project should include a plan that provides parking permits for residents while ensuring access to driveways and that redesigns the drop-off and parking areas for Silver Spring International MS and Sligo Creek ES.

Improve Our Streetscape

Light rail is powered by overhead lines – not ground-level "third rails." By selecting a good design, these power lines can meet the highest design standards and be integrated with high-quality street lighting, clear street signs, and beautiful landscaping. New trees and shrubs should be planted as part of construction, in consultation with affected homeowners.

Enhance our Community

Other light rail projects have had a positive impact on neighborhoods. A well-designed Purple Line can improve facilities and enhance home values on Wayne Avenue. As only one example, the Purple Line project should include renovating the athletic fields and kids' playground next to SSIMS to preserve parking and restore the aging facilities.

Protect Sligo Creek

The Purple Line will cross Sligo Creek, which must be protected and improved. Light rail is quieter than buses and does not result in tailpipe emissions, but the Purple Line should make special efforts to control storm water, limit noise, and protect natural habitats. Every tree that is removed should be replaced by two new trees.

Protect Pedestrians

Today, cars speed dangerously along Wayne Avenue. The street can be safer with the Purple Line than it is today. The Purple Line project must include crosswalks to protect residents – especially our children attending SSIMS, Sligo Creek Elementary, and St. Michael's Schools. The project could also include new sidewalks through our neighborhoods, especially where they would help schoolchildren have a place to walk safely.

Control Cut-through Traffic

With traffic steadily worsening in Silver Spring, we are already seeing more drivers cutting through and spilling over into our neighborhoods. The Purple Line needs to be designed to reduce future congestion. County authorities must also develop a comprehensive plan to calm traffic and reduce spill-over on roads like Sligo Creek Parkway, Cedar, and Dale and on neighboring side streets.

Portland, Oregon is an example of a US city with mixed lanes for cars and light rail

Reflect Community Priorities

Silver Spring must have an opportunity to participate more actively in decisions about specific features of the Purple Line in our community. Important issues to be discussed will be: whether to place a Purple Line stop at Dale and Wayne, and how to ensure that the hiker-biker Green Trail is completed in parallel with the Purple Line project.

The Time Has Come:

- Our community – including Wayne Avenue – is under threat from traffic and congestion.
- Our community can be protected by building a high-quality Purple Line – soon!

Re: Follow-up to my comments at the MTA Hearing at the 4-H Center

When I testified on November 18th, I stated that I had spent a few hours collecting signatures from my neighbors who were in support of the Purple Line Light Rail Option on the Georgetown Branch right-of-way. I had hoped to be able to spend more time on the project because I believe that the attached document is only a minor portion of the supporters in this small town of some 400 households. For the most part, the signatures I collected are from just one representative in each home. I only visited homes of people who found out by word of mouth that I was trying to identify supporters of the project. They represent 39 families who are enthusiastic about the future of the region with a light rail train connecting our transportation hubs and our communities.

Because the names and addresses are someone difficult to read on the attached document, I have listed them below. The original signatures will be put in the mail tomorrow.

Thanks for your hard work on the project and dedication to making sure the public had an opportunity to express their views.

Sincerely,

Nancy Soreng

Re: Comments on the Draft Environmental Impact Statement

Dear Mr. Madden:

We the undersigning residents of the Town of Somerset are writing to express our views of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Purple Line.

Our neighborhood is walking distance from the Friendship Heights Metrorail station. We believe expansion of the regional rail transit system is important to the future livability and economic/environmental sustainability of this region. We support the Light Trail Transit option for the Purple Line that utilizes the Georgetown Branch right of way. We believe this will ensure completion of the Capital Crescent Trail through to Silver Spring and will help address the regional problem of traffic congestion and the global problem of climate change.

We urge Secretary Porcari and Governor O'Malley to move the light rail Purple Line forward through design and into construction on the most expeditious schedule.

Good evening. I'm Nancy Soreng. My address is 5506 Uppingham Street, Chevy Chase. I'm pleased to be here to speak in favor of building the Purple Line light rail option on the Georgetown Branch right of way.

My home town is Portland, Oregon and over the years I've witnessed the benefits their light rail system has brought to the region. That city's integration of transportation and land use planning has given the state a head start in addressing the symptoms of global warming, limited energy resources and population growth. TriMet, the regional authority that operates Portland's bus and light rail system, reports that ridership growth on Portland transit has been sustained for 18 consecutive years. "Between 1995 and 2005 overall ridership increased 53% with only a 20% increase in service. Transit ridership is outpacing the 25% growth in vehicle miles of travel and the 16% growth in population over that same period of time."

Montgomery County has begun to implement transit oriented development as a policy. Building the Purple Line Light Rail is a critical component to making that policy work.

Light rail makes sense financially as well. Although it does require a significant up-front investment, it costs less to operate per passenger carried. Light rail can carry five times as many passengers as buses which means a significant savings in operating costs. Over time, this cost-efficiency is critical.

I now live in the Town of Somerset and many of my neighbors are eager to see an expansion of our regional transit system. We live within walking distance of the Friendship Heights Metro Station. If the light rail were built, residents of my new home town could commute to Silver Spring and College Park for work and recreation with significant time and carbon foot print savings. Not only that, the dozens of workers who come to my neighborhood by bus every day to care for our elderly, clean our houses and take care of our children could reduce their travel time and thus improve their quality of life.

The last two weekends I've spent a few hours collecting signatures from my neighbors of Somerset on a letter supporting the Purple Line Light Rail option. Of the house holds I've visited, where someone was home, over 90% have signed the letter. I plan to continue to collect signatures until the close of the comment period.

I also support light rail on the George Town Branch right-of-way for the improvements it will bring to the trail. I frequently ride my bike to Silver Spring and look forward to the end of muddy, rutty trail sections and safer crossings of large roads like Connecticut, Spring and 16th street. I would far prefer to ride next to clean quiet light rail on grass tracks than next to buses on wide swaths of pavement.

Our region needs this project. The federal government is poised to shift their funding focus to supporting sustainable green infrastructure. We must be in line to take advantage of this opportunity by making the Purple Line light rail option a top priority.

Re: Comments on the Draft Environmental Impact Statement

Dear Mr. Madden:

We the undersigning residents of Woodside are writing to express our views of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Purple Line.

We support the Light Trail Transit option for the Purple Line. We believe this is most likely to have a positive impact on the neighborhoods through which it passes, is most compatible with the Capital Crescent Trail, and will help address the regional problems of traffic congestion and the global problem of climate change.

We support completion of the Capital Crescent hiker-biker trail between Silver Spring and Bethesda as well as other pedestrian safety upgrades elsewhere along the project corridor.

We urge Secretary Porcari and Governor O'Malley to move the light rail Purple Line forward through design and into construction on the most expeditious schedule.

Sincerely,
